President's Message

Greetings fellow fly fishers. My message will be brief as I am in a cabin on the Madison River chasing the elusive Madison Brown trout.

We are in the best summer of our lives. The summer of 2020. Why? because we are here and getting out on the water doing what we were born to do. Chasing our favorite fish on the fly rod.

Some of you are stalking the grey ghost, the Corbina, along with the spot fin croaker, surf perch, halibut and other saltwater species on our front door, the SoCal beaches. Others are having fun catching spot-ties, mackerel, halibut and others in our bays.

Some of you had great days and caught some beauties in the eastern sierra, the golden trout wilderness, and the forks of the Kern.

I'd like to recognize Kim Jones who recently achieved a couple of firsts this summer; a nice Corbina from Torrey Pines and a 43 lb. Red Fish on her recent trip to Florida with Jennifer Holbrook. Jennifer also boated some nice Reds and Spot Fins as well.

We are blessed to have these great resources and opportunities to enjoy the great outdoors even in these difficult times.

I often cruise through summer enjoying the beaches and eastern sierra. This year I reminded myself that while I can still get back to Montana, Let's do it! I'm retracing the drives I did years ago with my young children. Realizing in retrospect, my selfish ways. It's hard to throw a line in the water while chasing youngsters on Hebgen Lake. We had fun times and great adventures discovering Yellowstone.

The kids are young adults. I now have the time to slow it down and savor the beauty of these great rivers. To recall those cherished times with family.

Hopefully the big one will rise and test me. I've been humbled by a few this week. Missed sets, thrown hooks, poor line management all lead to missed fish.

I managed to land a couple of good fish but we are not done yet.

Fish On!

A few ground rules so that this call will be enjoyable and we do not interfere with the Speaker's presentation or questions from participants. Please review the following before you login:

- Find a place to participate where there will not be lots of background noise or activity
Please be sure that you have a good connection to the internet.
- Please test your camera, speakers and microphone before joining the meeting to be sure they are working on your end.
- If you want to share your video so others to see you, have a light source in front of you rather than behind you.
- If you do not wish to share your video please turn off or cover your camera.
- Everyone who connects to the call will have their audio muted by default. The moderator will control the audio and unmute your microphone when you are going to ask a question or make a comment.
- Please Learn the controls at the bottom of the Zoom Meeting window. (scroll over the bottom to see the toolbar)
- If you wish to ask a question please send a message to the moderator using the chat function or raise your hand using the participants function (this can be done at any time).
- The presentation the Speaker and moderator will coordinate on responding to anyone who wishes to ask a question.

We will wait until the end of the presentation to allow people to ask questions and comment. We will call upon you and allow you to speak. Hopefully, this will go smoothly. Please be patient.

Recap of the July Club Meeting (video conference)

On July 6th, 45 members participated in our second club meeting via zoom. Craig Smith presented tips for fishing bass in San Diego and Mission Bays.

A PDF of Craig's presentation was attached to the last Indicator (August 1) and can be accessed from the SDFP website as well.

Tips for Improving Success on Local Bays

Sharpen Hooks and Crush Barbs

- Sharp hooks penetrate better
- Barbless hooks and hooks with crushed barbs penetrate better due to smaller cross section
- Should easily dig into thumb or finger nail when drawn lightly across at a shallow angle - 30° or less
- Test purchased flies and sharpen at home before getting on the water
- If you tie your own, sharpen in vise before tying on materials. Crush barbs at same time.
- I check hook point every dozen fish. More often if on sandy bottoms or bumping rocks.

SDDF Club Trip - The Clark Fork Outpost on the Clark Fork River September 3rd – 7th, 2020

Hola Anglers. Assuming we are clear of the world's current virus issues, the club will be headed back to Montana! Please consider joining me, Tim Huckaby, and a bunch of other fun club members for the fly fishing trip of a lifetime...again. This one is a bucket-lister...again.... a few of us have already checked this off the bucket list. Working with lodge owner Mike Hillygus, now a long-time friend of the club and multiple time donator to the annual fundraiser, we have picked the exact week of the year that this remote stretch on the Clark Fork River typically fishes its best. Yes, that means unless you want to target that big 32" brown with a streamer we will most likely be dry fly fishing the entire time. Nymphing means ridiculous results. Big Fish: West Slope Cutthroats, Rainbows, Browns and even Bull Trout!

Mike from the Clark Fork River Outpost is giving us $550 off normal prices.

Trip Details:

September 3rd to 7th, 2020

2 travel days (plenty of DIY fishing opportunity or simply relaxing with a high-end cocktail and appetizers)

3 full guided days in drift boats in between the travel days. 2 anglers per drift boat

Pre-arranged float plan with rotation of the guides and fishing partners (unless you have a buddy you want to fish with all 3 days).

4 nights at the Clark Fork Outpost right on the Clark Fork River ~60 miles north and downstream from Missoula in the middle of the wilderness (Closest City: St. Regis, MT).

3 full guided days of fishing on the world-famous Clark Fork River in drift boats with the Missoula area's best fishing guides.

San Juan River Trip (not a club sponsored event)

I have reserved a fully furnished 5 bedroom house that has river access in Navaho Dam for the week of October 11-16 2020 (6 nights). I have two bedrooms open for anyone interested in joining us for a week of fun and fishing. Each bedroom has a king bed and private bathroom. This is not an official sponsored club trip, so anyone is welcome. The cost is $350 for each room. The San Juan is a wonderful tail water with over 7000 fish per mile and most in the 18"-20" size. Most of the river is very wadable, but if you want to drift it there are guides available.

Let me know if you are interested and I can provide more details. Email: bdb114@cox.net. Cell # 858-449-0056.

Thanks, Bruce Bechard

Feature Article

Forks of the Kern Tim Huckaby

I serve the board of the San Diego Fly Fishers Club. For years, I have taken club members into the Forks. If you read my site you know how much I love the Forks. I promised to do an "official" club trip with a larger group and I'm sure glad I did. The "cat herding" of organizing and planning was well worth it. We had so much fun. Nine tents in the Huck site – a new record. We set a lot of new "first times" and new records at "The Forks". I'll elaborate some of them below. What a great and diverse group! From total beginner fly fishers to advanced experts. I spent a lot of time guiding some of the beginners and absolutely had a blast doing it.

The weather was fantastic — never too hot. We always seemed to have a breeze. There were no mosquitos, but that is pretty common at the forks. There is just not a lot of standing water near that raging river like there is on the eastern side of the sierras. My guess is that is got to 80 degrees riverside. But, the nights were cool; all the way in your 18 degree sleeping bag cool. My guess was it got under 50 at night. That is a big swing in temperature which is common at the Forks.

We ate (and drank) well too. I did not lose weight on this trip. And I was doing 30K+ steps per day which included hiking, bushwhacking and fighting current. I did the sous vide thing on a huge steak and lamb chops because there is a forest wide ban on campfires so I couldn't grill them. I hiked in a little butter and flashed them in my titanium frying pan under my jet boil. It worked perfectly. In terms of adult beverages here is what I noticed flowing: scotch, JD, bourbon, wines, beer....and port wine... now, that is a first. And clearly not a sacrifice. Since this is only a 4.36 mile hike to the Huck site it offers the opportunity to carry a lot more weight going in and hike out that canyon much lighter.

Everyone caught fish – The fishing was great. Not a surprise because at those low flows the fishing is always great. The 4 straight drought years a few years back provided some of the best fishing on the upper kern ever. Some of the advanced fly fishers did really well. Lots of big Kern River Rainbows well. "Top 5 fly fishing trips ever" well. At 240 CFS the river was crossable in many places safely including right at the Huck site. Like I have said on this site many times if you can fish the other side of the river you will put your flies in places where the fish just rarely see artificials.

I'm a big believer in that 3 fly set up I detail in the Forks guidance document with the 3 titanium bead beldar stone pulling down a size 16 green caddis cripple. I call it the Upper Kern river special. It's wildly effective. I only fished that rig for 15 minutes, catching 2 kern river rainbows quickly. I didn't need to nymph. I fished 98% of the time with dries. Mostly Huck Hoppers.

Most of the time I fished a double dry with a battleship size 4 Huck hopper above, trailed 18" behind by a size 12 Huck hopper. Color did not seem to matter. I fished tan, brown, grey, black and green and they all got struck. But, I wish I had those huck hoppers size 4 in yellow with me. I did not.

There were yellow naturals on the banks and trails... all huge like 2s, 4s, 6s.... with a yellow body and black streaks and yellow wings. A lot of them. My guess is that the yellow huck hopper would have done well. The reason I stopped nymphing when it was so effective? A large kern river rainbow struck that big huck hopper with the beldar stone and the green caddis cripple below. I set hard.

There were a lot of jumps and a battle. I tried to release the tired fish quickly. It was easy to remove the big huck hopper from it's face. But the 3+ feet of flou-ro and two nymphs were wrapped around the trout; not good. I snipped the tippet in multiple places quickly so I could release that fish unharmed. When it swam away I said to myself, "why redo that nymph rig all up again with its 5 separate knots when they are just going to rise for a battleship sized huck hopper." I never nymphed again on the trip. There was no need to. I saw consistent rises to huck hoppers all trip long even when the river warmed.

The flow was at 240CFS, which is drought-like flow. And really bizarre for July to be so low on an average snowpack year. It has to do with the amount, frequency and temperature that the snow falls and freezes. I measured the river temp at the huck site in the morning at 58 degrees. That is in the range that trout dig. It is melted snow from Mt. Whitney, After-all. But, after 35 miles in direct sunlight and air temps over 80, the river rose to 72 degrees by end of day. Typically, trout hate that warm water. But, we all were getting rises in that water temp and catching fish. Which means they were hunkered down at the bottom in the cooler channels and pockets and shot to the top to feed. Don't get me wrong. There definitely was a lull in action from 11:30AM to 3:30PM. But, I cannot explain why the fishing picked up in the later afternoon with those warm water temps. As mentioned, we had a number of new firsts on this trip:

The way it shook out ½ of the group hiked in on Wednesday morning with me scouting and securing a site. and the other ½ hiked in Thursday. My plan from the beginning was to hike in a day early, securing a spot big enough for the group. Then hike all the way back out and lead the group in the next day. But, a bunch of these folks wanted to just hike in with me a day early. Hiking back out provided an opportunity. My buddy jeff kimura joined me in hiking back out with an empty backpack. I filled mine with a 20 can box of Coors and a few more random beers and some fresh food and jeff put a huge watermelon in his pack. Both firsts. I have to be the first 58 year old to hike a case of beer 4.36 miles up from the confluence on the forks trail. And there is no way a full watermelon has made it that far up river.

To be continued next month: falling in, jumping in, and unexpected encounters with denizens of the animal kingdom!

SDFF Women's Program

Lady fly fishers of San Diego Fly Fishers:

Given the current situation we now find ourselves in, I'm looking for ideas on how we can get together, perhaps virtually, to share news and information, as well as plan future events.

If you have suggestions, feel free to email me at: womensprgram@sandiegoflyfishers.com and let me know your preference for events we can plan for the remainder of the year. I have some ideas we can discuss via Zoom. Looking forward to hearing from you soon!

More information about future events as they become available. It will be posted here and on Facebook and the Indicator.

Fly of the Month

Flies That Keep On Giving

By John Williams

It's spring and the water may be off color, give the fish every chance to see your fly. Aquatic worms are a good choice and this pattern has proved it's self. This is an easy one.

Atomic Worm

Hook:	Orvis Tactical Barbless 1P13 #10 or to your liking
Bead:	2.4 mm Tungsten Black
Thread:	UTC 140 Fluorescent Pink
Worm Body:	Hareline Pearl Core Braid Red
Cement:	Gel Super Glue

Place the bead on the hook, either big hole or small hole first it doesn't matter. Place hook and bead in vice. Just forward of the center point of the hook place a slight drop of super glue and slide the bead to the just forward point and trap with thread wraps on either side of the bead and leaving the thread to the rear of the bead. Singe the braid end with a flame and let cool before placing the singed end to the rear approximately 2 times the length of the hook. Tie the braid down behind the bead and move your thread forward to in front of the bead. Tie down the braid in front of the bead with a few wraps of thread. Smear a little super glue on your thread and whip finish at the base of the front tie in point and cut your thread. Cut the braid to approximately 1.5 times the length of the hook and singe the end with a flame. A dirty water solution to catching fish.

John

Rod Building

Stay tuned for when classes will resume. Space will be limited to ensure quality time for each student. Dates will be announced in the Finny Facts.

In the interim, if you are beginning your own project and would like some advice or recommendations please free to contact Jack Duncan

Rod Building help is an important benefit of being a San Diego Fly Fisher. In the coming editions of Finny Facts and on the Website look for "Tips from Jack" to help those who want to build their own rod.

San Diego Fly Fishers Casting Program 2020

We are please to announce our casting instruction program for 2020. Led by our certified casting instructor John Wylie, we hope that this will provide a more focused approach to help improve your casting skills.

Note: These lessons replace our legacy "intermediate sessions". The SDFP beginners casting sessions held at Lake Murray on Sundays remain unchanged. These lessons are intended to build skills over a two class course. Participants will gain the most by attending both class sessions per focused area.

These classes are open to all members of San Diego Fly Fishers and Golden State Flycasters. Sign up early to reserve your place.

For questions and to sign up please contact: John Wylie or look for a sign up sheet at the monthly meetings.

Conservation & Education

From Gary Strawn, the Conservation Chair:

Our July 1-3 trip to the Golden Trout Wilderness was a great success. Our crew of 14 "highly essential" workers did some amazing repairs and got the fence up in its best shape ever. Weather was perfect, food was delicious, and the golden trout didn't know when to stop biting. Our ten year old grandson caught 14 in one afternoon all on size 16 dry mayfly. I even caught a few. We spent two days in the meadow so there was plenty of time to get our work done and still have plenty of time for fishing. We will be going back October 2 and 3 with a smaller crew to drop the fence. October fishing is always excellent but it can be cold...any volunteers?
I need to spend about $300 on fence supplies and hats, but I think we are still well within budget.

I talked to the DFW Trout in the Classroom coordinator. She is checking with our regular TIC teachers to see if any of them want to try running the program online from home. If so, we may need some help setting up their tanks... any volunteers?

San Diego River park Foundation hopes to have a meeting (virtual?) in November or December to plan the trout display at the new "River Center". Bruce Harris and I plan to participate and there is probably room for another... any volunteers?

Tight lines,

Gary
